

I have a degree in marketing. I have been tracking the deceit in science over the mold issue for about four years. I am currently in litigation with Bruce Kelman, author of "A Scientific View of the Health Effects of Mold" US Chamber of Commerce Institute For Legal Reform, 2003.

I was the first to publicly write of the deceit of the paper online in 2005.

The second time the matter was written of, was on the front page of the Wall Street Journal.

Heimpel KNEW all of this before he wrote a false light article for LAWeekly in July of 2008, on behalf of the US Chamber of Commerce.

Bruce Kelman sued me for libel for the word "altered" claiming it was a false accusation of perjury. The libel case has been interesting to say the least." It has cost me over $500K in legal fees alone not to shut up about the US Chamber et al,'s deceit over the mold issue and not to be coerced into silence by its authors through this now over four year old libel litigation purportedly for the word "altered".

LA Weekly and Heimpel put out a false light media hit piece on me three weeks before trial on behalf of the US Chamber of Commerce. It was Heimpel's first venture into political writing for LAWeekly under the tutelage of Jill Stewart.

Heimpel and news editor, Jill Stewart, who has a nasty reputation in LA for her bizarre interpretation of how to write news, not only attacked me with their false light political hit piece, but my family, including my daughter who has Cystic Fibrosis referring to her as my "starring victim" while I expose the deceit of the US Chamber of Commerce over the mold issue.

Heimpel KNEW exactly what he was doing as is evidenced by email correspondance.

The writer of the LAWeekly expose', and US Chamber shill, Daniel Heimpel, was then named Political Investigative Reporter of the Year for 2008, by the LA Press Club

But his political hit piece on me on behalf of the US Chamber in 2008, was not submitted by LA Press Club board member, Stewart, for Heimpel's 2008 body of work.

Heimpel's writing was so bad, he could not even quote the Manhattan Institute think-tank, who paid for the deceptive US Chamber paper, correctly. Even THEY complained!

Below is twenty-three minute video of what Daniel Heimpel KNEW of the US Chamber of Commerce's involvement in perpetrating a fraud on US courts over the mold issue and the US Chamber's author Bruce Kelman's involvement...Who Heimpel portrayed as a kindly scientist of integrity being attacked by an obsessive Mom among his award winning and stellar political investigative reporting of 2008.

In the above video, Kelman is discussing the false authorship listed of being written by a physician, the payment for the paper coming from the Manhattan Institute, how the US Chamber paper was SPECIFICALLY paid for and written to "educate" judges overseeing mold litigation, perjury on the issue of malice in a libel litigation (that was the subject of Heimpel's fine writing) and attempted coercion into silence.

The litigation is still before the San Diego courts to this very day and is quite stinky with seven San Diego judges and justices ignoring uncontroverted evidence that Bruce Kelman has been committing criminal perjury on the issue of malice..while professing to prove he has been maliciously accused of one who would commit criminal perjury.
