League of WAKA
The Colony - Carrollton

Issue 3
Summer 2012

There were more ties out at Josey Ranch Athletic Complex than Don Draper's closet last Wednesday. This will make for some interesting standings, especially since the only team that walked away with a point was last year's victors, Mayhem.
Also: No games on the week of July 4th.

TX Freedom Kickball Mid-Season Party

Friday the 13th
Red Rock's Bar
9pm-2am

Ladies and Gents, this is one of the main reasons you signed up for kickball. We'll have kegs tapped, bar games going, music, food, and social time so you can mingle with other ballers in the comfort of your own street clothes.

This is a kickball party, but we encourage you to invite your non-kickball friends as well. It's free for TX Freedom kickball players to drink all night from the kegs, and your friends only have to pay $10 for a wristband to join the fun. If you don't want to drink from the keg, our regular drink specials still apply.

Please RSVP below and invite your friends so we know how many kegs we'll need.

Kickalobe Ultra really showed up to play this game! Our "Mean Green Machine" beverage really seemed to spark some energy under our butts! Taking the lead in the first inning and getting some points on the board first truly showed the fight in our team! Infield home runs and great catches kept us competitive and the 6-6 draw showed great effort by both teams. It was fortunate that some of our bonehead moves this game actually turned into game changing events! Our All-Star MVP Award goes to Scott Pittman this game for his BEAST move in the outfield in the last inning standing on 1st base taking a gut-wrenching elbow to the stomach after a bonehead throw was thrown far out of his reach, Scott chased the ball down and chased down the runner who was going for the game winning homerun. Scott tagged him out as he was sliding into home plate, keeping the game at a 6-6 draw to end the game!

With almost one-third of the team away on vacation and business trips, B&D wasn't sure what to expect from KU. After finally winning a round of rock, paper, scissors (thanks to Tyler & Bridget for strategy tips) the team took their fielding positions and were surprised by KU's kicking. They scored 3 quick runs in the first inning but were soon matched by B&D's desire to win. After scoring runs back and forth, the game finally ended in a tie with an almost-heroic play by Stache (so close!!). The bar games did not go in B&D's favor this week, but we plan on doing some intense training during our week off (camping like crazies)! The "Synchronized Missing" award goes to Tyler & Wes W. ("Stache") for beautifully choreographing their attempt to catch a ball in left field.

~~Friday~~ Wednesday night and the lights are low
Looking out for the place to go
Where they play the right music, getting in the swing
You come in to look for a king
Anybody could be that guy
Night is young and the music's high
With a bit of rock music, everything is fine
You're in the mood for a dance
And when you get the chance...

You are the dancing queen, young and sweet, only seventeen
Dancing queen, feel the beat from the tambourine
You can dance, you can jive, having the time of your life
See that girl, watch that scene, diggin' the dancing queen

On a side note---we did kick ass in Quarters, which brings us to number one in the bar game standings. As Katie would say, "wooooooot woooooot!"

After a deflating loss to HIB week 2, Mayhem pumped up their kicks to take it to the limit one more time and strolled on to the field hungry... like a wolf. We knew Bojangles was nervous but we heard it through the grapevine that they would still be fighting for their right to party.

From behind the sun, Mayhem rode out fast like Paul Revere and laid the smack down with Maxwell's silver hammer in the very first inning. Even with last game's intensity, Mayhem proved that we could come together and that they would never tear us apart. Like a boss, Mayhem piled the runs on quickly, but then turned their attention to having fun. This game looked more like somebody I used to know: Mayhem, when we were young.

We would like to say Domo Arigato to Mr. Roboto and the rest of the Bojangles crew. Along with my Mayhem teammates, there is no one I'd rather stand by me from week to week.

HIB struggled to get its offense going once again but, our defensive and aggressive base running continued to be awesome. Even though we didn't loose, HIB hates TIES. Lol...

SOP, get ready next week!!

For the second week, New Pitch has kept the opposing team from scoring a single run. Unfortunately for us, the reverse is also true. Considering we are back to our old ways of With R Selves, one would think we would have already "tie"-dyed our white shirts. Although neither team scored, there were a few close calls. Son was taken out inches from home in the first inning, and Bill teamed up with Jeremy to prevent Tae from tagging home. Bill also had a great throw to third where Jana's cat-like reflexes won our team an out that prevented the runner from stealing home. Mark and Marty were all over the outfield catching fly balls and Bill caught three from first. The best hit of the night unfortunately involved two of own players. As our outfield was battling to hold HIB's offense, Jeremy and Eric had an unfortunate "run-in." Jeremy came away with the ball and the worse injury of the collision. His kidney may never be the same, but neither will his liver so....it all worked out in the end.

VS

This weeks game was sure to be good one. The game started off with SOP scoring and although we felt a little defeated we quickly came back to tie up the game. It was toe to toe the last two innings but with quick plays and good pitching we ended up in a tie.

SOP was looking to start a winning streak, but KLBD has other intentions. SOP started the game off with a quick four runs kicked in by Josh and Helms. KLBD would respond with two of their own and keep chipping away on the score board. SOP was unable to keep the lead, but held the tie in the end. Great game KLBD! We showed to bar games, but the "go big or go home" mentality was not a working one for quarters this week.

WEEKLY MVP

Bridget

The "Look Ma, No Hands!" award goes to Bridget for using ALL of her woman parts to pass a ball.

Zane

B2's MVP of the game was without a doubt, Coach Zane. It's a good thing he actually showed up and humbly placed himself at the end of the lineup, because he kept us from being shut-out by kicking a home run in the fifth inning. Not bad for an old man!

Ashley

The HIB MVP this week definitely goes to Ashley---for her unexpected yet awesome catches.

Lander

"Sky rockets in flight" award goes to Chris Lander for kicking the highest popup we've seen in SOP franchise history to date. (Ball is not pictured.....it's too dang high)

Shawn

Mayhems MVP award goes to Shawn Attaway. Shawn slid safely into second and continued to play, even with a nasty bloody scrape up the side of his leg. He went on to score (what he says is...) his first run since playing Kickball. All of this was done with a smile, heck, I don't even think I heard him cuss. Cheers buddy to a great game and a great attitude!"

Ryan

The LKBD award goes to Strong ARM Ryan for his great pitching and staying calm under pressure.

WEEKLY MVP

Jana

NPIT MVP: Our defense and Jana's cat-like reflexes

Least Valuable Player: Our non-existent kicking skills

Scott

Scott Pittman "Scotty P" is KU's MVP this week!
