

Dear Mr. President,

Michael Goldsmith, a young, healthy father of two, is intubated and ventilated in a hospital in New Jersey since a week ago Friday. He has failed numerous therapies, including antimalarials with antibiotics, and apparently also some biologics. His physicians thought he would be approved for Remdesivir under a compassionate use program, and his treating ICU physician thinks that he would benefit from it. He does not meet criteria for a clinical trial. However, early last week, Gilead Sciences pulled back their program under the premise that they are transitioning to an "expanded access program." In the meantime, outside of a trial, they provide it now only for patients who almost never get the illness: children and pregnant women. They will not allow any other patients to receive this drug, despite multiple private and public entreaties, including bipartisan political requests. This includes for physicians who contracted COVID-19 "on the job," such as Maimonides electrophysiologist Yisachar Greenberg, who begged the company to provide the drug in impassioned tweets before his deterioration. For their part, the company has not provided any information as to when their "expanded access program" will begin.

We are appealing to the President of the United States, requesting that he invoke the Defense Production Act with regard to Gilead Sciences. The political leanings of the signatories vary widely, and some of us even consider ourselves free-market libertarians. However, this company has effectively closed down their compassionate use program and have now, for more than a week, absolutely no mechanism to provide it for young patients in extremis who do not meet clinical trial criteria. This persists despite multiple entreaties from physicians.

Earlier this week, this company had the hutzpah to apply for an orphan drug designation so as to attempt to collect government assistance for what will surely be a most profitable offering. They withdrew this request once the move was publicized. It is inconceivable that in the face of a pandemic that credibly threatens death to 1% of the US population, a company could sit so tightly on what the WHO called "the one drug right now that we think may have real efficacy," as though business ought to proceed as usual.

Sincerely yours,

Aton M. Holzer, MD, FAAD, FACMS, Dermatology/Mohs Surgery
