Nissan Figaro Facts...

- The name 'Figaro' was named after Le Nozze di Figaro. The main character of a Mozart opera.
- The Figaro was introduced at the 1989 Tokyo Motor Show under the slogan "Back to the Future."
- It was built by a Nissan special projects group called Pike Factory, which also produced the Be-1, Pao and S-Cargo.
- The car was based on the K10 Nissan Micra aka March.
- Only four colours were available:
  - Topaz Mist
  - Emerald Green
  - Pale Aqua
  - Lapis Grey(Each colour symbolised a season of the year)
- When the car was launched, Topaz Mist was the least popular colour. There were only 2,000 produced in Topaz Mist hence they have become increasingly rare.
- Although a 'Nissan' the Figaro was sold without the Nissan name!
- The Figaro is equipped with leather seats, air conditioning and one of the first generation CD players to be fitted in a car.
- It was designed by Shoji Takahashi, who won a design competition with the car.
- The Figaro is supplied complete with a breakdown Flare. Yes really!
- The engine is a Nissan's MA10ET, a turbocharged 1.0 L (987 cc) 14.
- Only 8,000 were originally available with an additional 12,000 added to production numbers to meet huge demand.
- Demand was so high that prospective buyers had to enter a lottery to be able to buy one. Limited edition models came with passenger side baskets and cup holders. These parts now fetch hundreds on internet auction sites.
- There are many accessories you can buy including, Parking Stick, Headlight Eye Lids, Vanity Mirror, Net Shell, Cup Holder...
- The car was never sold through UK Nissan Dealers and is supported by specialist dealers who supply parts and servicing.
- There are currently 4,552 Figaro's in the UK (30/03/2011) DVLA.
- It cannot be driven in the USA due to the strict emission rules.
- 83% of Figaro Owners Club Members are female.
- Prices range from £2,000 up to £14,000.
- The car was never sold in the UK and all have been imported.
