

Webb City Farmers Market – Call for Proposals for Tuesday &/or Thursday meal vendors – 2017

The Webb City Farmers Market is accepting proposals for vendors for the Tuesday and Thursday meals for the 2017 season.

The meal vendor must comply with all market regulations and pay the season and daily market fees. Proposals do not have to mirror past meals at the market.. The market does have picnic tables on site for customers. The vendor may store folding tables on site

The Tuesday and Thursday markets are open from April 25 through September. The Tuesday meal is served from 4:30 to 6:30. The Thursday meal is served from 11 to 1. The selected business should bring enough food to satisfy customer demand for the full time. The business may also be open longer hours if desired. The meal vendor must be certified by the health department and comply with health department regulations.

An inspected kitchen is available on site for hourly or weekly rental rates.

The board will consider proposals for every market, for every Tuesday or Thursday only, or for selected markets during the season.

The meal vendor is responsible for clearing/cleaning picnic tables before, during and after the meal and for removing trash to the park dumpsters. The meal vendor must provide menus one month in advance for the market's extensive publicity program. The meal vendor will be included in all press releases issued by the market and in its weekly ad in the Wise Buyer/Webb City Sentinel.

- Proposals should include: sample menus for
 - four (or more) meals including the price to the customer or
 - the set menu, should it not change from time to time, including the price to the customer.
- All other things being equal, the board will give preference to vendors using local food sources and to vendors minimizing waste (such as using paper, not Styrofoam).
- Proposals submitted after March 17 will not be considered unless no satisfactory proposal is received. The Board of the Webb City Farmers Market will select the proposal they think will be the most successful at the market.

Proposals should be sent to: PO Box 1, Webb City, MO 64870 or emailed to eileennichols@sbcglobal.net
