

Notes: With the exception of any dismantling necessary to provide access to internal components (and noted if such occurs), tests are carried out on products and their parts as received.