Reflections on the weekend Scriptures

Exodus 34:4b–6, 8–9; Daniel 3; 2 Corinthians 13:11–13; John 3:16–18

• Thunder, lightning, and law accompanied God’s revelation to Moses on Sinai. But today, Exodus quotes God’s own self-description: “a merciful and gracious God, slow to anger and rich in kindness and fidelity” (34:6).

• Paul presents this one God’s trinity of personal manifestations: “grace, love, fellowship”—literally “communion”—qualities that should mark our own lives, both as a community and as individuals (cf. 2 Corinthians 13:13).

• John’s Gospel proclaims God’s plan as infinitely loving: “God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him” (John 3:17). In fact, when we proclaim the three Persons in prayer, we do not make a circular or triangular gesture that would visually connote the Trinity’s eternal existence or equality of Persons. Rather, the specific sign by which we have come to know the nature of our Triune God is the sign of the self-sacrificing love of the second Person, Jesus, who took our human flesh so that we might be reborn to new life in the name of the Holy Trinity. So, although pronouncing the names of all three Persons, we trace over ourselves only the sign of Jesus’ cross. Moreover, from our Baptism and until our dying and the burial that follows, others who love us trace that same sign over us, hoping that by often speaking those three names while making that one sign, our lives will be shaped, day by day, year after year, to a truer image and likeness of God’s own love.

Question of the Week

How many times a day do I make the sign of the cross and invoke the name of the Most Holy Trinity?
How can I make that sign and invocation more intentional?

Next Sunday’s Readings

Deuteronomy 8:2–3, 14b–16a; Psalm 147; 1 Corinthians 10:16–17; John 6:51–58

Parish Activities and Announcements

God’s revelation of Himself. Completing the liturgical feast calendar, we celebrate both the Trinity and the Body and Blood of Christ.

From the Pastor’s Desk

From all time, God has revealed himself to us, as we have on our own part no way of ever discovering Him through our limited intellect. This revelation is reflected in today’s scriptures and continues in our daily living and through the presence of the Holy Spirit guiding us to live righteous and godly lives in the face of difficulties.

This time of year, we begin to wind down church programs and I would be remiss without thanking both Deacon Noel and Elizabeth Sanchez for their help and guidance for both the religious education and bible Study on Wednesday evenings. Over the year, they make a difference in the life of our parish and enable younger members to learn about God while older members discover more about God in the scriptures. We thank them for all of their efforts and for their dedication.

God bless you all Fr. Roger

Our parish is always in need of both Mass intentions and Memorials for the Sanctuary Light. Please speak with Fr. Roger to request either.

Evangelization is everyone's business and as soon as people find this parish, they often visit and are usually pleased with what they discover:
