Reflections on the weekend Scriptures

Sirach 15:15–20; Psalm 119; 1 Corinthians 2:6–10; Matthew 5:17–37

Sirach exhorts, God “has set before you fire and water . . . life and death, good and evil, whichever [you] choose shall be given [you]” (15:16–17). Paul proclaims “wisdom to those who are mature, not wisdom of this age” (1 Corinthians 2:6). Finally, Jesus declares, “You have heard that it was said . . . but I say to you,” no ordinary rabbi interpreting the Torah, but God’s beloved Son with whom God is well pleased, challenging us to reach beyond the law’s letter, beyond our culture’s accepted mores, to radically self-sacrificing love.

Thus, not only is murder prohibited for Jesus’ disciples, but even angry thoughts, insulting murmurs, abusive words. Adultery is not only the sinful action itself, but even the preliminary lustful thought that reduces a person made in God’s image to a thing that exists for our pleasure. Marriage is not merely legal contract, but lifelong covenant. No need for oaths; transparent honesty makes our every word literally the “God’s honest truth.”

Most importantly, whatever the issue, however misunderstood I feel, the disciple always makes the first move, takes the first step toward reconciliation. Jesus goes further. No solemn prayer can replace such radical, interpersonal peace-making; even liturgy’s sanctifying power is nullified without reconciliation. Interrupt the liturgy, leave sacred gifts unoffered at the altar whenever you recall that anyone has anything against you. Note carefully the extraordinary challenge: not if we remember something we’ve actually done, but, remarkably, if you “recall that your [brother/sister] has anything against you” (Matthew 5:23); that is, even if the alleged offense exists only in the other person’s mind.

Question of the Week

Is there a situation in my life calling for a reconciliation that will not happen unless I make the first move? How soon will I do so?

Next Sunday’s Readings

Leviticus 19:1–2, 17–18; Psalm 103; 1 Corinthians 3:16–23; Matthew 5:38–48

Parish Activities and Announcements

Adultery in the heart! If you are of a certain age, you remember President Jimmy Carter and that famous

From the Pastor’s Desk

interview where he admits to having committed adultery in his heart. At the time, it was all that people talked about....as I am sure that those who heard our Gospel reading for the first time also were taken aback as to what the requirements of discipleship meant to the first disciples and of course to us, present day disciples. There has been a weekly progression from Jesus introduced as the new Moses to the Sermon on the Mount and now to essentially, a new way of living, patterned upon the ten commandments, but taking this to a whole new level. A way of life not based upon the simple black and white set of the laws but upon a further calling based even upon the intention of the heart even beyond a person’s actual actions. It is a higher calling that we all receive, a calling reaching beyond black and white into a wide world of grey.

God bless you all. Fr. Roger

Each Tuesday, Nick Pond will be working on this project on and it involves three elements: spot refinishing the bottom legs of the chairs, spot refinishing the floor where it needs it and lastly, replacing stick on felt pads, as needed, to prevent damage to the floor caused by the chairs. If you can help, I know that Nick would appreciate the assistance on Tuesdays.

Why St. Patrick's Church? When people are considering making a faith community their "spiritual home," they often ask themselves why this particular community rather than another...or no community at all! When this happens, a kind word of support for Saint Patrick's can make a wonderful difference.

YOUR invitation can make the difference!
