Workshop to inspire photographers during Grenfell festival

Monday February 6, 2012

Travel photography workshop conducted by award-winning travel photographer

Melbourne-based travel photographer Darren Stones will be conducting the 2012 Grenfell Festival Travel Photography Workshop during the 2012 Grenfell Henry Lawson Festival of Arts on Saturday June 9, 2012 between 8.30-11.30am at Grenfell, New South Wales.

"I want to help photographers improve their travel photography knowledge and skills during my guided walking workshop around historic Grenfell. I love the vibe and friendliness of the Grenfell festival and what it offers to local and visiting photographers. The 3-hour workshop involves learning about composition and lighting, and photographing architecture, landscapes, festivals and people in an interactive and friendly environment. I think it's terrific the festival is supporting photography and I am looking forward to driving 625km from Melbourne to conduct the workshop and meet other photographers," Stones said.

Stones says he is "keen to motivate and assist people to make quality images that they can be proud of and want to share." He said "travel photography inspires creativity."

Workshop places are limited to 10, and each person will receive an information pack containing gifts and travel photography advice articles. Visit www.darrenstones.com.au and click on 'Workshops' to download the workshop information and booking form.

Stones won the Drover's Wife bronze statuette for 'Best Photograph of the Exhibition' at the 2008 Henry Lawson Festival with his landscape photograph Dog Rocks.
