Challenges are a great way to get involved by seeing the best work in different genres, entering your own work and voting on others. There's new themes all the time, so just wait around for something that rocks you!

Who sets the challenges? Most challenges are hosted in one of our many groups, some are hosted by RedBubble. If you're a host of a group, you can start a new challenge right now.

Who can participate? Voting is open to anyone, but entries are restricted to only members of your group, with one entry per person. Some challenges (hosted by RedBubble instead of a group) are open to everyone.

Most importantly, have some fun!

How do they work? The group host set a theme and a start date. They also specify how long the entry period should last, and then how long voting lasts after all the entries have been collected.

How does the voting work? Simple, we count the votes on each entry! Voters can vote for as many of the entries as they like, and we jumble up all the entries for each voter, so that no one has an advantage.

Not sure? You can also order by phone within Australia: 1300 66 77 01
