an oil painting workshop with Charles Young Walls

Open to all levels, this workshop will challenge those who attend to develop a painting using a logical and progressive approach, to paint directly without an underdrawing.

Utilizing the still-life, the focus of this workshop is to inspire the student to move forward into a more satisfying way of handling paint - to gain control of the rich medium of oil painting with confidence and understanding.

Informative and passionate, Charles approaches art instruction by addressing visual principles and the material power of technique to equip the student with the skills to fulfill their own artistic vision.

An entire week of
in-depth individualized instruction and demonstrations

$450 (includes lunches and beverages)
