The Global Indoor Health Network is a dedicated group of scientists, physicians, researchers, building engineers, indoor air quality experts, industrial hygienists, attorneys, teachers, injured workers, advocates and others who are working together to promote healthy indoor environments in homes, schools and businesses.

If you support our Vision and Mission and would like to join us, please send us a message expressing your interest in joining via our contact form.

DISCLAIMER: The following table is only a Membership list showing the individuals and businesses who are members of the Global Indoor Health Network. GIHN does not make referrals and does not endorse any service providers or products.

The choice of a physician, indoor air expert or other service provider is entirely yours. As you would do when hiring any service provider, be sure to check references, credentials, fees, insurance policies, warranties, etc.
