

Subj: Fwd: Mold/LAWeekly
Date: 8/1/2008 12:32:27 P.M. Pacific Daylight Time
From: MAKramer
To: SNK 1955

From: MAKramer
To: dheimpel@gmail.com
CC: LOchoa@laweekly.com
Sent: 8/1/2008 12:20:20 P.M. Pacific Daylight Time
Subj: Mold/LAWeekly

Mr Heimpel,

I would guess that the purpose of this email would not be a surprise to you. Your mold article that was published last week was riddled with inaccuracy and personal attacks. It has continued the nightmare that I have lived for the last 6 years. I talked to you for only a few minutes and your seeming hidden agenda and lack of compassion was apparent. Your article validated this initial suspicion; I only wish that I had talked to you originally so that I could have warned Sharon not to trust you.

You know what, though, I can take it, and you know Sharon can handle it, but what really gets us both is the way you portrayed Erin as the "starring victim." She just started her first real job out of college, and she had to come back from lunch and explain this horrendous article to her new fellow employees. Of all involved in this article, she does not deserve this. Is this what you wanted to accomplish?

Maybe this is your normal mode of operation, maybe the opportunity to be "creative" won out over the basic concept of presenting the truth. Either way it defamed my family and I expect a published apology.

Michael Kramer
760-533-8026

Looking for a car that's sporty, fun and fits in your budget? Read reviews on AOL Autos.

Looking for a car that's sporty, fun and fits in your budget? Read reviews on AOL Autos.